Ever since Bowlby's pioneering research (1979/ 1989) the study and assessment of attachment has been essential to understand the innate development of human close emotional bonds, from infancy and throughout adult development, and old age (Collins & Feeney, 2013).

Adaptation of Collins' revised adult attachment

Bowlby's evolutionary theory of attachment suggests that children come into the world biologically pre-programmed to form attachments with others, because this will help them to survive.
