Gravity of Earth The gravity of Earth, which is denoted by  $g$ , refers to the acceleration that is imparted to objects due to the distribution of mass within Earth. In SI units this acceleration is measured in metres per second squared in symbols,  $m/s^2$  or  $ms^{-2}$  or equivalently in newtons per kilogram  $N/kg$  or  $N/kg$ . Near Earth's surface, gravitational acceleration is approximately  $9.8 m/s^2$ , which

Average gravity on the Earth's surface is about

Gravity, or gravitation, is a natural phenomenon by which all things with mass or energy—including planets, stars, galaxies, and even light—are brought toward one another. On Earth, gravity gives weight to physical objects, and the Moon's gravity causes the ocean tides. The gravitational attraction of the original gaseous matter present in the Universe caused it to begin coalescing, forming stars and for the stars to group together into galaxies so gravity is responsible for many ...
